820 students

big impact

One small action you can take to promote Sustainability Citizenship is....

to start a fairtrade project using old T-shirts to make tote bags and then sell them at the winter market of our school.

The money is given to a fund raising organisation.

Sustainability Citizenship is....

to reuse: it's for our future

Sustainability Citizenship is....

using the community garden to to grow different veg, fruit and herbs +invite elderly neighbours to join us in the garden

Then we use our produce to cook zero-waste recipes with kids and parents.
+ create a zero-waste cookbook together to upload on our website for free use

One small action you can take to promote Sustainability Citizenship
is....

to fix everything that broke at the school → integrate this to school subjects like arts & crafts, fix for example furniture, the school
fence, the pillows etc.
What ever you have.

is....

a project in school where student and teachers during 1 month every day intentionally skip buying one thing (for example box of biscuits) they don't need necessarily.

Consume less!!

promote sustainability Citizenship is.... to reduce food waste in school canteens and hopefully also reduce meat consumption with Good idea: Work menus with students and a nutritionist + Offer two menus.

promote sustainability Citizenship is....

promote using recycled to encourage using arts + crafts resources for arts in single use rather than buying alternative resources → Also encouraging alternative media to paper for mark, making
- Our early years children will use so much! so we also need to teach them to be more intentional.

promote Sustainability Citizenship is...

Renuse - You won't regret it
